1969 AFL DIVISIONAL PLAYOFF GAME KANSAS CITY 13, NY JETS 6

December 20, 1969, at New York. Attendance 62,977 Frigid conditions and a gusting wind helped slow down two of the best passing attacks in the game, but two passes by Len Dawson that did click were the difference as the Chiefs rather than the Jets became the first AFL team to return to the Super Bowl.

The game was tied 3-3 at halftime, and Jan Stenerud's second success gave Kansas City a 6-3 lead after three periods. In the fourth period, the Jets received a first-and-goal at the 1 after Emmitt Thomas was called for pass interference in the end zone. However, two runs and a pass didn't produce a score, and Jim Turner tied the game with a short field goal.

Following the kickoff, Kansas City took possession at the 20. On first down, Dawson threw long to Otis Taylor, who raced to the Jets' 19 before being tackled by Al Atkinson. On the next play, Dawson found Gloster Richardson alone in the end zone for the winning score

1969 AFL DIVISIONAL PLAYOFF GAME OAKLAND 56, HOUSTON 7

December 21, 1969, at Oakland. Attendance 53,539

Oakland scored four touchdowns in 4:22 of the first guarter, as the Raiders jumped to a guick 28-0 lead coasted to a 56-7 victory over a team they had vociferously objected about having to play.

The key figure was quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who threw six touchdown passes. On their second possession, the Raiders moved 50 yards in five plays, with Lamonica throwing a 13-yard scoring pass to Fred Biletnikoff. On the first play after the kickoff, George Atkinson intercepted Pete Beathard's pass and returned it 57 yards for a score. The Oilers again lost the ball the first play after the kickoff, as Hoyle Granger fumbled and Carleton Oats recovered at the Houston 24. On first down, Lamonica hit Rod Sherman for a touchdown. Following the next kickoff, Houston again fumbled -this time by Beathard on the fourth play -- and Tom Keating recovered. Again it took the Raiders one play to score, Lamonica finding Biletnikoff for the touchdown.

1969 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME KANSAS CITY 17, OAKLAND 7 January 4, 1970, at Oakland. Attendance 53,564

The Kansas City Chiefs won the last championship of the AFL 17-7 by slowing down the Oakland passing attack and capitalizing on big plays.

The Raiders looked on their way to their third win of the year against Kansas City when Charlie Smith scored on a three- yard run in the first quarter. But then, Len Dawson, who had thrown seven incompletions in a row, hit Frank Pitts for a 41- yard gain to the Raiders' 1. Three plays later, Wendell Hayes blasted in for the tying touchdown.

Dawson again pulled out a big play with the game tied 7-7 in the third quarter. Facing a third-and-14 at the Kansas City 2, Dawson scrambled out of trouble and fired a 35-yard pass to Otis Taylor. That play was the key to a 94-yard drive that culminated in a five-yard scoring run by Robert Holmes.

The Chiefs turned the ball over inside their own 30 three times in the fourth quarter, but each time they intercepted Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who was playing despite having severely jammed his throwing hand against the helmet of Aaron Brown early in the final period.
